About Russell Grove Association

A loosely organized group of Russell Grove alumni began meeting in the late 1980s to preserve the history of black Amelians. Frank B. Tyler, Jr., was the organization's first president.

In 1988, the organization's constitution and bylaws were formulated its purpose. The Association's purpose is to promote the public welfare through the preservation of the spirit and pride of the alumni and affiliates of the former Russell Grove Schools, to cooperate with the Amelia County School Board and other organizations in matters of mutual interest and advantage to public education; to provide scholarships for deserving graduates affiliated with Russell Grove Schools and to promote cordial and friendly relations among members and the public.

The Russell Grove Association entered the new millieumun with a 99-year lease agreement with the Amelia County Public School Board for its historical building. In further cooperation with the county, a the Russell Grove Renovation Project was developed to serve the Russell Grove Community. The doors of the Russell Grove building were re-opened in August 2003.

The Association is actively seeking to increase membership, award educational scholarship and provide mentoring and other educational programs for youth. The Association, a 501(c)3 organization, has nearly 150 members. The organization has been renamed the Russell Grove Association.
